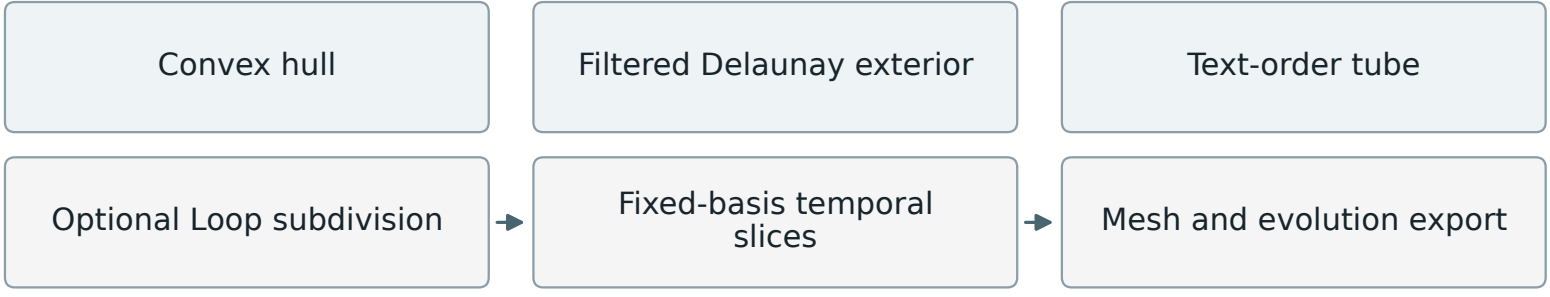
Objects are constructions from the same points



Smoothing can shrink surfaces; different constructions need not share topology